

The saga of a fun-loving ticket evader and the girl with the porcelain fingernails

Super Kaw Cafe

Story and Photos by Regis E.G. Moore

Thanks to the roving eye of our unofficial super sleuth in the field — Hi-Torque vice-president John Sferra — we are able once again to present you with another chapter in the popular series: Feature Bike of the Month.

Sferra, our gregarious vice-president and advertising director, happened upon Ed Markel's 750 Kawasaki cafe racer quite by accident. The chance meeting took place at a gas station. Our illustrious executive had just pulled in to refuel his sporty little Buick when his alert eyes cast a heavy glance upon the candy apple combo cafe. It was not exactly love at first sight. In fact, rumor has it that Sferra has a definite preference for rib-tickling dirt-burners.

Still, Sferra managed to remove thoughts of the ad index from his mind long enough to suggest to Markel that his machine might be perfect material for our rag.

Needless to say, Markel accepted